ANDREW'S PICKS FOR HUMAN INTEREST BOOKS ON HOOPLA

'Another Brooklyn' by Jacqueline Woodson

This is an excellent, almost poetic book exploring growing up black in 1970's Brooklyn, which touches on racism, poverty, crime, etc, and struggles of class. So good. So moving! A must read! This can be found on Libby and Hoopla in ebook and audiobook.

'My Name is Lucy Barton' by Elizabeth Strout.

Very somber and heartbreaking, but ultimately an excellent piece. So much of what is unsaid is the true story. Highly recommend. This is available on Libby in ebook and audiobook.
