

How to Access NYTimes Online through the Ramsey Free Public Library

The New York Times

How it Works

- Get free access to the NYTimes online content, including today's news, editorials, interactive and A/V content, archived newspapers back to 1851, and more. Note – access to the crossword puzzle is not included.
- To access NYTimes content, visit the library's website and click on our NYTimes Access link – this will bring you to the NYTimes website where you will receive a redeem code for 24-hour access to NYTimes online.
- You can redeem as many 24-hour access codes as you want – simply redeem a new code after the first 24 hours has expired. You can continue to do this every 24 hours without any limits.
- Available for Ramsey Free Public Library cardholders ONLY. Members of other BCCLS (Bergen County Cooperative Library System) libraries do not have access.

Steps – Getting Access Using a Browser

1. Begin by creating a free NYTimes online account if you don't have one already – www.nytimes.com/register
2. Login to your account using the device you want to read the NYTimes.
  - a. This will also work if you want to use the NYTimes App – simply download the app then login using the free account you created.
3. Visit our library's website and click on the NYTimes Access button.

4. You will be brought to a screen to redeem your free access code – click on REDEEM
5. You will now have free access to the NYTimes for a 24-hour period. This means you can read/access as much content as you want within that period.
  - a. You can also login to your account after clicking on the Redeem button. Once clicking on the Redeem button, you will be prompted to login to begin your 24-hour access.

Getting Access Using the NYTimes App

1. Login to the account you created on you app (once you've logged in the first time, you should remain logged in after that)
2. Use your mobile device's browser to visit the library's website and click on NYTimes Access.
3. Click the REDEEM button to redeem your 24-hour access. You should now be able to go to your NYTimes app and the redeem code will be automatically applied and you can begin reading articles.
